Chief of Police Gordon McMillan Tenders His Resignation Sept. 1

Water No. 1 Thought

Aerojet-General May Have The Answer To Shortage

A Space Science water conservation invention may take that old "water over the dam" expression used to describe the irretrievably lost and send it along with its castaway cliché—"down the drain."

In fact, chemists at Aerojet-General Corporation claim the new device will mean that 90 per cent of the water now discarded by most communities can be saved, giving the community an almost permanent water supply.

It holds promise of solving one of the most serious natural resources problems confronting the nation today, the lack of adequate water to meet the demands of an ever-increasing population.

Heart of the system is a series of membranes, made of plastic-like material, which filter out dissolved contaminants in water and return it purified, sterile and ready for reuse.

Thus, instead of a community needing a 100 per cent new supply of water each day, 90 per cent of it would stay in the community.

Blue and Gold Dinner All Set For Feb. 15

Celebrating the 53rd anniversary of the Boys Scouts of America will be over 200 Cub Scouts and their families of Sierra Madre Pack 381, as they participate in the annual Blue and Gold Banquet, scheduled for this Friday, Feb. 15, at the Sierra Madre School cafeteria.

During the past month the den mothers have been working in close harmony with their Cub Scouts in having the boys make many of the decorations for the banquet tables.

Such items as centerpieces, place cards, napkin holders, place mats and other related decor have been constructed and decorated by the Cubs. Naturally, the blue and gold theme has been carried out.

The Blue and Gold Dinner is set up on a "pot luck" basis, with members from each Den and their families making up their own table, both in regard to decorations and food.

Following the banquet a program of informative and entertaining movies is scheduled for the adjoining auditorium.

Celebrates 90th Birthday Feb. 12
Mrs. Maud Fitzgerald of 735 E. Grand View celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary, Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was born in Stillwater, Minn., and has lived in Sierra Madre since 1938. She is the widow of the late John L. Fitzgerald, well known attorney of this city.

She has two sons, John L. Fitzgerald Jr., of Arcadia and Dr. E. J. Fitzgerald of Wallace, Idaho, and two grandsons by Dr. Fitzgerald and his wife.

It was most aptly brought out by Attorney Jackson, representing the Construction Company that it would be economically unfeasible and unsound to try and develop this property should any other zoning be applied excepting the R-1-7,500. He further stated that his client would be bound by a minimum of 70 foot frontages as required by R-1-9,000 and that the average lot size would be in the vicinity of over 8,000 sq. feet.

That his clients would be willing to give a deed restriction with the guarantees as above mentioned.

The Council concurred in this matter and by motion reversed the decision of the Planning Commission 2 to 1 in that: they were respectful to allow the R-1-7,500 zoning when and if the self-imposed deed restrictions were accomplished as prescribed by law and that such accomplishments were delivered to the City Attorney Martin. At this time he would draw an Ordinance and would be presented to the Council for its first reading at their meeting of February 26. March 12 being the final reading and the rezoning to become active.

Also up for hearing at this time was the recommendation that the entire area of the Sierra Nursery Property, now R-1-11,000 be rezoned to R-1-9,000. Again the City Council denied the recommendation of the Planning Commission, based on its action above stated.

Late Hearing
The third portion of this hearing dealt with the upper one third of this property, now R-1-11,000 to be rezoned to R-1-9,000 with frontages on Sierra Madre Boulevard. Due to a hearing on the Alley property, occupying one corner of this one third, it was the opinion of the Council, that this consideration be withheld until the February 26 hearing and that all property be re-zoned to R-1-9,000.

January began a new year for month to month valuation, therefore the figure for year, thus far, is $289,531.

Number of street, electrical, plumbing permits 62, valuation $399.65. Business license fees collected $6,950 for January, 1963, for year $14,538.

Plan check and building permit fees collected for month $855.20. Comparison of building for January of this year is $289,531, 1963; $693,249, for 1962 a drop of $403,718.

Among the other business conducted by the department was the final reading and passage of an amendment to the constitution raising the regular membership of the department from 20 to 30 members. This is the first time since the organization of the department over 40 years ago that any change has been made in the number of men on the regulars. Men who were on the auxiliary will become members of the regulars. This amendment will create more openings on the regular department for men.

Any male resident of Sierra Madre who is over 21 years old and works and lives in the city who is interested in becoming a member of the department should contact a fireman of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department. Meetings are held every second and fourth Friday of the month in the Fire Station. Business meetings start at 9 p.m.

The drill time last Friday night was spent in testing the hose on the last piece of equipment. All the hose in use in the department has been through the annual test.

A forthcoming drill will be held with a tanker crew from the United States Forestry Department.

Be good, but not too good... a little naughty, but not too naughty. Say a prayer if you feel that way, say Damn if it gives you consolation.

Huntington Construction To Be Granted R-1-7,500 Zone Change

New Civic Center Building 6-Point Plan Put Into Effect

The City Council of the City of Sierra Madre met in regular session Tuesday at the hour of 8 p.m., with all Councilmen present excepting Vice-mayor Abernethy. Attorney Martin, City Administrator Bevington, City Clerk Warfel and Mayor Vannier were in their respective chairs.

Zone Change
A continuation of the hearing on the appeal of the Huntington Construction Company for rezoning of the lower two thirds of the Sierra Nursery Property, from the already R-1-11,000 to R-1-7,500 was brought on the floor for discussion.

It was most aptly brought out by Attorney Jackson, representing the Construction Company that it would be economically unfeasible and unsound to try and develop this property should any other zoning be applied excepting the R-1-7,500. Formal Resignation

Honorable W. W. Vannier, Mayor and Members of the City Council City of Sierra Madre, California Gentlemen:

After lengthy and serious consideration of the many factors involved, I have decided to ask for Service Retirement. Believe me, after more than thirty-six years of police service with the City of Sierra Madre, thirty-three years of which was in the capacity of Chief of Police, this has not been an easy decision to make.

In order that ample time may be provided for selection of my successor, you may consider September 1, 1963, as the effective retirement date. I have made a request to the State Employees' Retirement System for a statement of retirement benefits as of that date.

You may count on my continued cooperation pending retirement date and I wish to express my thanks to you and preceding City Council members for the honor and privilege which has been mine in serving the very fine citizens of the City of Sierra Madre.

Sincerely yours,
G. G. McMillan

EMILE E. SMITH, Owner

OUT OF THE COBWEBS

February 5, 1926

For the first time within the memory of some of the oldest inhabitants, lightning struck within the limits of Sierra Madre Sunday morning. No more serious damage than the blowing of numerous electric lamps and fuses and a few radios were reported. But the experience was too near and vivid for the enjoyment of a number of people.

Lightning struck an Edison pole on the west side of Grove just above Grand View where stands a large eucalyptus. The bolt seems to have been carried or to have jumped to this tree. It struck a sheet iron sign board of the Fairview Realty, shattered the sign and also blasted a sheet iron mail box.

In the nearby home of Mrs. S. M. McClelland, 383 W. Grand View, the current evidently came into the house over the electric wires. Brass plates and a metal incense holder on the plate rail were thrown half way across the room. Mrs. McClelland's daughter, Catherine, was in another room and happened to have a pair of scissors in her hand. She had the sensation of a severe electric shock and the hand which held the scissors was somewhat burned.

Keen interest prevails in the piano recital to be given tonight in the Woman's Clubhouse by Bob Mitchell and pupil of Prof. Haig Kinsey. He will be assisted by Mrs. Janet Stevenson Wood, soprano and Miss Mary Ludlow flute.

Mrs. Wood is a favorite with Sierra Madre audiences and Miss Ludlow is assistant supervisor of orchestra music in the Los Angeles schools. Although he has been heard in a great variety of program numbers, this will be Bob's first public appearance in a complete recital program.

The one evening that no member of the Sierra Madre Garden Club would care to miss occurs next Monday, Camellia Night. It will be a dinner meeting with J. Howard Asper, superintendent of the world's largest camellia growers at La Canada, the Manchester Boddy gardens.

Jacques Hahns will talk about the February garden meeting and reservations will be made with Mrs. Frank Cox.

Attorney and Mrs. C. J. Chunn, 620 E. Sierra Madre Blvd., have received word that their son, Charles John Jr. has completed a course at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia to qualify for entrance to a University, with a view to taking a law course. He was released from the Army in 1945.

Mrs. Chunn, nee Miss Mary Drumheller of this city, is also attending the University, taking a pre-medical course, specializing as a psychiatrist.

Returning with her was Miss Bibi Sarias, daughter of the family. Miss Sarias will stay here for the next semester attending Wilson High. This is her first trip to the States.

Mrs. Ralph Solury, 169 Santa Anita Ct., returned last week from several months vacation in Waterbury, Conn., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Martin Scalzo (nee Marian Solury). Mrs. Solury was on hand at the arrival of her grandson, Ricky Scalzo, born Dec. 1.

Cemetery Association Elects New Officers for Year

The Sierra Madre Cemetery Association, at its annual meeting and subsequent election of officers, elected the following: President, Paul N. Carter; vice president, Mrs. Randolph Wood; secretary, Miss Nine Neale; treasurer, H. Clay Reavis.

Directors for the coming year are: G. Norman Kennedy, retiring president; president, Mrs. Dorothy Koenig, Carl Brand, Sam Schwartz and Don Jackson.

During the past year, under the leadership of Attorney Norman Kennedy, the cemetery has been surveyed and plotted, and a map filed with the County Recorder, to be used as a basis for selling 200 new grave sites. A chain link fence now surrounds the area. Dead trees and accumulated litter have been removed, and at last the cemetery begins to take on a cared-for appearance.

The Directors of the Association, a non-profit corporation, are now seeking means to raise funds for the next step in improvement, which will include paving the driveway, the first unit of an irrigation system and hiring a part-time custodian.

Seventy-five per cent of the funds realized from the sale of grave plots is being placed in an endowment fund guaranteeing future care and the remaining 25 per cent is to be paid into the current operating fund. All officers and directors of the Association are serving without remuneration.

The local cemetery has an interesting historical background, having been founded in the 1880s on land donated for the purpose by N. C. Carter, Sierra Madre's founder. In about the year 1889-90 an extreme flood breaking over the banks of the Little Santa Anita (now Sierra Madre Canyon) washed away the northeast corner of the cemetery.

Perpetual care cemeteries were unheard of in Sierra Madre's early days and the town's early residents took pride in caring for their departed. None could foresee the complexities of the 20th Century and its prepaid care. With the help of public spirited citizens, the Cemetery Association is well on the way toward re-establishing this little corner of Sierra Madre as a piece of hallowed ground.

Monorail System Promoted

The Metropolitan Transit Authority today issued a letter of intent to the Goodell Monorail to build a $40 million monorail line from downtown Los Angeles to International Airport.

The MTA commitment is conditional on obtaining right-of-way and acceptance of additional feasibility studies.

Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, one of the leading U.S. bond underwriting firms, offered to subscribe up to $40 million estimated cost of the monorail line. The bonds would be amortized from dedicated revenues of the downtown-to-airport monorail, and would not cost county taxpayers a penny.

Smile, always smile, have a smile ready even though sometimes, it hurts like hell. Grab all the happiness you can . . . wherever and whenever you can . . . don't let even a wee bit slip past you. Live, above all things live, don't simply exist.

—CT—
If you are blessed enough to know what real love is . . . love with all your heart, soul and body.

—CT—
Live your life so that at any hour you will be able to shake hands with yourself and try to accomplish at least one thing worth while each day. Then when your nights come you will be able to pull up the covers and say to yourself . . . "I have done my Best."

—CT—
While I am in this mood I want to get another story off my chest . . . it is so typical of some of the everyday happenings over the nation that I feel that it is well worth putting down here:

—CT—
Houdini, the great magician and escape artist, could get out of any jail, handcuffs, or straight jacket that he ever tried . . . that is, or so the story goes, all save one. That one place was a little jail in Los Angeles County, more commonly known as Sierra Madre. Houdini worked at the cell lock for more than two hours. He worked with that terrific speed that usually unlocked doors in thirty seconds, but he could not get the lock to spring. Finally, tired out by his strenuous efforts, he fell exhausted against the door, and it swung open, it had never been locked.

—CT—
Life is something like that, isn't it? We build up in our minds barriers that do not exist. We lock ourselves up in the jail of failures by doubts and fears that live in our imaginations.

—CT—
Some of us have stopped trying because of past failures. We think there is no use. We think that the door to success has been locked against us. Maybe if, instead of sitting down and giving up, we just leaned against the door, it would swing open . . . how true, how true . . . all together now let's give a huge push and swing open the doors for Sierra Madre . . . it can be done if we all push together.

—CT—
In closing this week, I leave you with this thought . . . "Great but . . . importance is given today to skills . . . but anyone who is imbued with normal intelligence plus a capacity and willingness for hard work can succeed." Think it over . . . it's true. And I will be seeing you around I hope, I hope, I hope.

Search and Rescue Gives 15 Rules of Mt. Safety

This year thousands of adventure seeking and nature minded Sierra Madreams, as well as out of towners, will be taking advantage of our beautiful trails, picnic areas, and well placed camp grounds. All of these places are clearly defined on U.S. Forest Service District Maps, which may be obtained free of charge at any Forest Service Station.

Wherever you intend to go: be it a hike, a day's outing, or an overnight campout, always keep in mind the safety of yourself and others. The following rules compiled by the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue team through years of experience in the mountains are provided to help prevent accidents.

Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Mountain Safety Rules

1. Do not enter the mountains without one or more companions, and do not separate.
2. Groups of children should be supervised by at least one adult for every five children.
3. Let someone know the trail you plan to use, destination and time of return.
4. Use only regular trails and avoid all shortcuts.
5. Wear adequate footwear and clothing.
6. Observe and obey all posted signs.
7. Carry a first aid kit, drinking water, and a flashlight with new batteries. Use water sparingly.
8. Remain alert for snakes, poor footing and falling rocks.
9. Do not climb rocks, trees, or run on trails.
10. Do not enter caves or mine shafts.
11. Do not roll or throw rocks.
12. Do not travel in the mountains after dark, and allow yourself plenty of time to get out of the mountains before dark.
13. If there are any questions, feel free to contact the local Forest Rangers, local police, or County Sheriff's Office before entering the mountains. Do not gamble with your life.

WHAT NEW WONDER WILL MOW THIS LITTLE LEAGUER'S LAWN . . . in the all-electric future?

As every American boy, old or young, knows—baseball is not the only national pastime. The sand-lot and the stadium have to wait when the grass is growing. By the time this young man is raising his own team, he'll be able to cut his lawn with an ultrasonic bladeless mower—by remote control. He can just sit back and "coach" it around the yard by talking into a microphone!

While the electric industry is pioneering tomorrow's work-saving appliances, it is also continuing to lead the research to find new sources of electricity. And logically so. Electricity is our business.

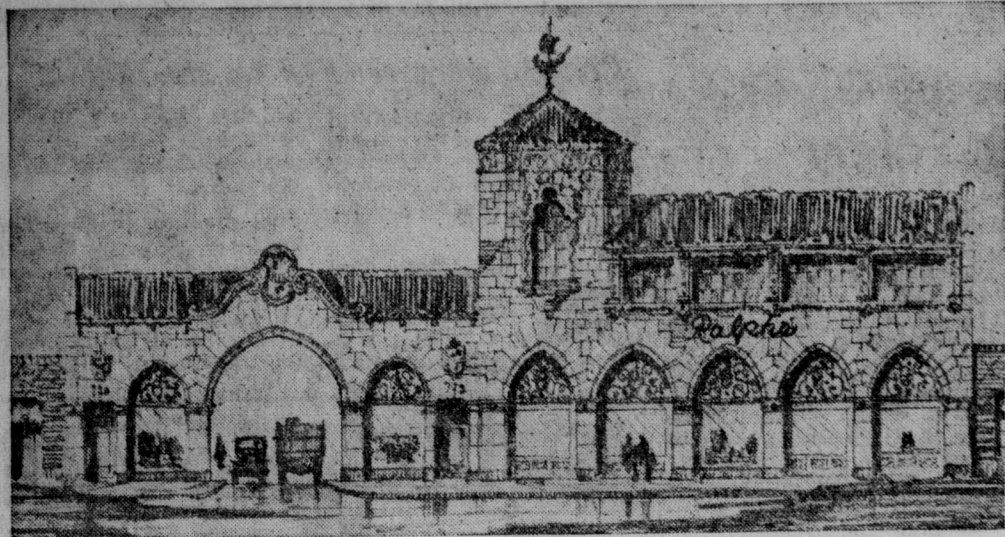

In the future, you'll be hearing more from Edison about new ways of producing electricity from such things as nuclear energy, fuel cells, thermionic conversion and other developments in research.

Edison's promise is this: as new ideas in modern electric living come along, we'll continue to bring you the abundant, low cost electricity you'll need to enjoy them.

THE NEW IDEAS IN LIVING ARE ALL-ELECTRIC

Swiss Missionary At Bethany Church
Sunday Evening, February 17, 7 P.M.

Swiss missionary Heini Germann-Edey at Batu, Java, will speak of the land and people of Indonesia at Bethany Church of Sierra Madre on Sunday evening, Feb. 17 at 7 p.m.

Rev. Germann-Edey is in the United States under the sponsorship of World Vision, Inc. — interdenominational missionary service organization headquartered in Pasadena.

The missionary will tell of his work in the area of Menado, Northern Celebes, where a full-scale war has been raging. The conflict involved government troops and rebel native forces of men who refused to bow to what they believed was an alien—Red—tinted government.

As a result of the war, whole families were wiped out, churches and homes riddled with bullets and, perhaps worst of all, hundreds of orphans left homeless and without parents. World Vision has sent more than 420 tons of vitamins and medicines to the stricken areas where Mr. Germann-Edey arranged for their distribution.

Germann-Edey, along with his wife Agnes and their six children, are enroute back to Indonesia from Switzerland after a year's furlough. Their home is in Batu, Malang, Java.

Among the varied ministries of Mr. Germann-Edey in Indonesia are his work in helping to record 131 Indonesian languages for Gospel Recordings, Inc.; helping to organize an Indonesian Bible Institute in Batu and serving as interpreter during conferences for Indonesian pastors in Timor and Java sponsored by World Vision. He has been active also in a large scale literature distribution ministry on Java, largest of the Indonesian islands.

Dr. Robert N. Schaper, pastor of Bethany Church, will speak at the morning worship service at 11 a.m. He extends a warm and cordial invitation to all to attend these important events.

Ascension Tidings

The Evening study group of the Church of the Ascension will hold its final discussion of the Old Testament, based upon Jonathan Graham's "He Came Unto His Own," Monday, Feb. 18, at 7:45 p.m. in the parish hall. The study group is under the direction of the Rev. James H. Miller.

The Lenten study group, this year taking the "Ministry of St. Paul" as its topic for discussion, under the leadership of the Rev. Harley G. Smith Jr., rector, will hold its first meeting on Friday, March 8, and will meet every Friday during Lent following the 9:15 a.m. Mass.

A light breakfast in the parish hall will precede the discussions. A charge of $1 will be made to cover costs of the breakfasts and supplies for the series of discussions.

Babysitting arrangements may be made through Mrs. Ellen Munoz, 46 E. Laurel Ave., who will care for children of women wishing to attend the study group. Further information may be obtained either from Father Smith, 355-1133, or from Mrs. James Felton, Christian Education chairman, 798-1744.

The second annual Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper, sponsored and served by the members of St. Anne's Altar Guild will be held Tuesday, Feb. 26. Reservations for either the 6:30 p.m. or the 7:30 p.m. servings are now being made with Mrs. Kenneth Rickard, Altar Guild directress, 355-1211. Tickets for the dinner at $1.

The Episcopal Young Churchmen are sponsoring a Missionary Rally, Sunday, Feb. 17, at 7:30 p.m., St. Paul's Cathedral, Wilshire and Figueroa, Los Angeles. Speaker for the rally will be the Rt. Rev. David E. Richards, Bishop of Central America.

A board meeting for the officers and department chairmen of the Women of the Church will be held in the Parish Hall, Thursday, Feb. 21, at 10 a.m.

President Mrs. James Newman has urged all members to attend.

There will be a Day of Intercessory Prayer before the Blessed Sacrament on Monday, Feb. 25, from 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Members of the parish are committing themselves to half-hour watches during the day.

Lesson-Sermon
For February 17

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon this Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sierra Madre.

Bible readings will include this passage from Psalms (42:11): "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

Other passages will emphasize the Christian Science teaching that man's real soul is not something in the material body, but the one infinite Soul, or God. Also included will be this sentence from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 60): "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul."

Theme of Sermon

Rev. Armin Hesse
Announces
Sunday Sermon

In the 8 and 10:30 Sunday morning worship services at Faith Lutheran Church, the Rev. Armin Hesse will speak on "The Revelation of Christ's Omnipotence." He will direct the attention of the worshippers to the occasion when the Lord Jesus healed the man with the withered hand in the synagogue on the sabbath, especially to the phrase "But Jesus knew their thoughts."

After the 10:30 service, the Mr. and Mrs. Club will initiate a Sunday Coffee and Fellowship Hour, to be held hereafter on the first and third Sundays of each month after the 10:30 service.

Mr. Merwyn Fair has been appointed to serve as the census chairman of the congregation for the community-wide religious census to be taken on March 3. Mr. Donovan Hargens and Mr. Herman Vogel were appointed last week to the Board of Church Auditors.

What was planned and publicly announced as the Feb. 3 fellowship dinner for the recognition of the 50 new communicant members received into the congregation during 1962, also turned out to be a recognition of Rev. Armin Hesse's 25th ministerial anniversary. Committees had secretly planned the event as a surprise to the pastor.

One of the features of the surprise occasion was a portrayal of "This Is Your Life, Pastor Hesse," by means of screen slides and script narration by Elder Neal Ludwig. President Philip Mutschinske presented the honoree with a monetary purse for the purchase of a set of new clerical pulpit vestments.

Dedication And Revival

Plans have been completed for two weeks of special events in connection with the dedication of the new sanctuary and educational wing of the Monrovia-Duarte Assembly of God Church.

To begin the first week of spiritual emphasis, the Rev. L. E. Halverson, district superintendent of the Southern California District Council of the Assemblies of God, will bring the Sunday morning at the 10:45 o'clock worship service. Pastor Huffey, who came to serve the church four years ago, will bring the Sunday evening sermon at the 7 o'clock service.

The date of dedication has been announced as Tuesday, February 19, at the 7:30 hour. The Rev. Halverson will be present to officiate in the dedicatory service. Special vocal numbers will be rendered by the internationally known Swedish tenor, Enlar Waermo. The sermon will be delivered by Evangelist Ralph Bender of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, who will continue his ministry in the church throughout the balance of the two weeks. He will be capably assisted by Mrs. Bender in the musical ministry of the services. Evangelistic services will be nightly at 7:30 except Mondays and Saturdays. Sunday services will be at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Cornerstone Rite Sunday, Feb. 17

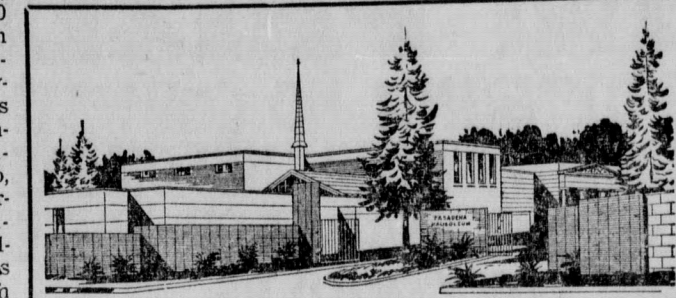

A milestone in the short history of the youngest church in this area will be reached Sunday, February 17, with the laying of the cornerstone at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church.

At the 10:30 a.m. ceremony at 7 W. Foothill Blvd., Arcadia, the guest speaker will be the new president of the Pacific Southwest Synod, Dr. Carl W. Segerhammer of Los Angeles. T.V. Bids

Bids were opened of various companies bidding for Sierra Madre community T.V. Cable service. The lowest bidder was rejected because of side commitments not responsive and in accordance to bid. The two remaining bids were turned over to the Capital Improvements Committee to investigate the companies and for analysis as to what is best for the City. A report will be forthcoming.

State Board
Reports Gain

Taxes administered by the State Board of Equalization for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962, amounted to $1.1/3 billion. This sum represented nearly three-fifths of the State's total tax revenue.

In its annual report the State Board revealed that the sales tax accounted for three-quarters of a billion dollars or nearly one-third of all the State's revenue revenue from taxes.

Revenue collected for cities and counties by the Board from local sales and use taxes totaled $245 million.

Despite the substantial gain in revenue, the Board's administrative costs hit a new low. Statisticians pointed out that it cost the Board only $1.11 for every $100 of revenue.

PREPARING FOR WEDDING BELLS APRIL 19th

Mt. Alverno Guild members are busy these days meeting at one another's homes to prepare the many attractive hand-made items that will constitute the boutique at their "Wedding Bells" homes tour to be held April 19.

Mrs. Christopher Pocino, boutique chairman, has announced that such a party will be held at her home on February 19 at 10 a.m. Lunch will be served at 12:30.

On Feb. 4 Mrs. James T. Clifford and Mrs. William Cracknell co-hosted a soap-decorating party at the home of Mrs. Clifford. Mrs. Gordon Gunn is planning a morning coffee workshop at her home to make decorative hanging flower baskets.

Among the many beautiful items now in preparation are coordinated summer sun-hats and matching handbags designed by Mrs. Peer Clausen, a former millinery designer; terry-cloth shifts by Mrs. Frank Straathof, party and work aprons designed by Mrs. H. C. Platz and Mrs. Francis Herbelin, and party-favors by Mrs. Harry MacDonaugh. The Guild works for the benefit of the Motherhouse of the Sisters of St. Francis, who conduct many schools in the Los Angeles Archdiocese.

California Economy At New High

January saw the Southern California economy advance to a new high in the overall level of business activity. The January increase moderate rising trend in evidence during each of the last three months. On the basis of year-to-year comparisons, the local economy is presently operating at a level of 7.5 per cent above that of a year ago. The major factors of strength in this month's business picture include a relatively high level of industrial power usage, rising building and real estate sales activity, and an increase in the volume of bank clearings.

Total employment in the southern half of the state has shown a gain of 3.4 per cent during the past 12 months, compared with a nationwide increase of a little more than 1 per cent. Manufacturing employment locally, after expanding during the first three quarters of 1962, held steady during the most recent months and at year-end also stood 3.4 per cent above the year earlier level. Unemployment, which on a seasonally adjusted basis reached a level of 6.3 per cent of the labor force in September, declined to 5.5 per cent in December, the latest month available. BIBLE THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Then the king said to me, For what do you make request? So I prayed to the God of Heaven.—Nehemiah 2:4. — Pray to God at the beginning of all thy works that thou mayest bring them to a good ending.—Xenophone.

Priority One and Two

One thing can be said with certainty concerning the Congress now in session — it won't have to worry about the ancient adage which tells us that the Devil finds work for idle hands to do. There will not be time or opportunity for idleness. Even if, as is hoped and more or less expected, no new storms appear to lash the international waters into fury, the agenda will be full, will be rife with controversy, and will be heavily laden with domestic matters of direct interest to all.

At the top of the list come tax reduction and tax reform. The President has seen to that, in his request for a staggering $13.5 billion tax cut, to be spread over a three-year period. That is much more than had been anticipated and, unless all present signs are wrong, much more than he will get. There are doughty and powerful souls in Congress — such as Senator Byrd in the Senate and Congressman Mills in the House — who are convinced that tax reduction, under present conditions, must be accompanied by reduced government spending in every possible non-defense area. The President thinks otherwise — he sees no chance for cuts at the present time. So the country may see something resembling the meeting of an irresistible force and an immovable object.

What will come next in the realm of general legislation? An editorial in the January 18 issue of Life magazine says this, and there can be no doubt that vast numbers of people are in agreement: "The No. 1 priority which tax legislation has on the agenda of the 88th Congress is well deserved. But there is another issue which is not on the agenda and ought to be. In fact, as a public problem, it rates the No. 2 priority spot, and if Kennedy won't give it priority Congress should. That is the question of new labor legislation."

Life goes on to summarize the scope of the problem. It observes that 19 million man-days were lost because of strikes last year — a jump of 3 million over 1961. It points to the newspaper strike in New York, called by the typographical union, which closed every paper in one of the world's largest cities during the Christmas season, to the almost immeasurable loss of advertisers as well as the papers, and, at this writing, is still going on with no apparent hope of settlement. The unions' demand in this case, which adds up to $38 a week when all the various benefits are totaled, is a financial impossibility so far as most if not all of the papers are concerned. They just don't have the money, and see no way of getting it.

Life also points to other strikes, recent, existing, or pending — the longshoremen's walkout, the fight over "featherbedding" on the railroads, the troubles in the vital aerospace industry. Then it says: "Most of this season's strikes have a common characteristic: the unions' growing fear of automation. Fear drives them to seek security for jobs which are no longer necessary."

That was the cause of the longshoremen's strikes when, because of technological advances, work-gangs of the old size were no longer needed. It is the cause of the controversy between the railroads and the railroad operating unions — the latter fight to keep 40,000 firemen on the trains even though the need for their services went out with the diesel locomotive.

It should be stressed that no responsible person wants the holders of now-obsolete jobs to be tossed callously into the ranks of the unemployed. As an example of modern thinking and doing, the Presidential commission which examined the railroad work-rules problem recommended that displaced workers be given extensive, long-term benefits, including job retraining, at railroad expense, and the roads promptly agreed. It should also be stressed that those who regard the resistance to automation and technological progress as "economic lunacy" — Life's term — are certainly not anti-labor or anti-union. For instance, the very liberal Supreme Court Justice Douglas once described obsolescent jobs as "unwanted . . . totally useless."

In any event, several prominent members of Congress have said that they will propose labor legislation of one kind or another before long. The feeling is gaining that union power and policy have, in too many areas, run head on against the national interest and welfare, and that they have been attaining, and using, a monopoly power the country can't indefinitely countenance.

In an unprecedented contribution, American drug companies donated more than $30 million worth of drugs for the release of the Cuban freedom fighters held captive by Fidel Castro. Estimates say the contributed drugs will cover virtually all medical needs for Cuba for two years.

VALE, ORE., ENTERPRISE: "There really isn't much doubt left in anyone's mind that we are becoming one of the laziest nations on earth . . . We have better cars and use them for any trip of over a hundred yards. Golfers don't walk any more, they ride around the course in a golf cart . . . Freedom At Any Price

by Henry V. Witty

George Lincoln Rockwell has long been identified as head of the American Nazi Party, and, as such, has, in as repulsive a way as possible, fastened himself to the right side of the political spectrum. In this position Rockwell is definitely assisting the far left (which is undoubtedly most interesting to the FBI).

A prime example of the unsolicited aid of Communist labeled "Nazi" Rockwell, was his group's part in supporting the House Committee on Un-American Activities when it recently convened in Los Angeles. Youths in knaki uniforms, decorated with swastikas carried signs reading: "We support the HUAC" . . . and . . . "The Great White Race, the Most Beautiful Thing God Ever Made."

The Communist demand that the HCUA be abolished because (they say) it indulges in Fascistic tactics. Minority groups are easily swayed one way or the other. — Fascist Rockwell supports this committee. — What is the obvious conclusion drawn by the undiscerning segment of America? How better could Rockwell serve the Communist cause!

Be that as it may, an even more unfortunate situation existing today is that Rockwell and his so-called Nazi party are operating undetected by the American people, as a tool, if not an instrument, of the Communist conspiracy.

This Communist diversionary tactic is accomplishing two things:

1. It is taking up our time fighting and fearing an enemy (Fascism) that for all intent and purpose doesn't exist, and thus leaving less of our time to fight our real enemy — Communism.

2. It is smearing and destroying conservative Americanism by utilizing just-by-association.

This columnist has for several years had a deep seated conviction that Rockwell was not what he represented himself to be, so it is with a great deal of personal satisfaction that "Freedom At Any Price" reports the following:

Frank A. Capell, editor of the New York bi-weekly Herald of Freedom, has uncovered firm evidence to indicate Rockwell's tie-in with the Communist apparatus.

Mr. Capell reports that "a new organization calling itself 'National Committee To Clear the Name of Senator McCarthy,' has been formed and is seeking sponsors. 'An undercover man infiltrated into the American Nazi Party of George Lincoln Rockwell, has advised the details of this plot which has been set up at the direction of Rockwell and is a 'front.'"

Letters have been sent to prominent people asking them to be sponsors. The letters are signed by Dr. A. S. Larson."

According to editor Capell, Dr. Larson has admitted attending meetings of the American Nazi Party and also has stated that he has lectured at the Overseas Press Club. The head of this club is James H. Humphrey Sheldon who, on April 21, 1948, on the floor of Congress was called an agent of the legal arm of the Communist Party by Congressman Ralph Church. Capell's undercover agent has placed Sheldon in Poland on August 25, 1948, with the World Congress of Intellectuals, a cited Communist front, and also found him to have been active in the American League Against War and Fascism — So, Larson, who is representing himself as a champion of the late Senator McCarthy, is in reality playing with the Communists.

Further evidence has revealed, according to Capell, that Seth David Ryan, treasurer of the American Nazi Party, met on December 15, 1962, with Gordon Hall who is well known as an anti-anti-Communist and who was active in the Anti-Nazi League although he (Hall) is reported as having distributed anti-Semitic literature personally.

Frank Capell further reveals that "Gordon Hall and Chas. R. Allen, Jr., plotted to use the Ananist Party (later to be called the National Renaissance Party) to smear anti-Communists. Co-conspirator in this and one of its financial backers was Vladimir Stepankowsky who has been identified as a Soviet agent." In other words, the treasurer of the American Nazi Party also seems to have an affinity for Communism.

The Communist conspiracy is attempting to discredit all anti-Communists. Aiding in this campaign is the agent provocateur (American Nazi Party) which, while posing as anti-Communist, works to destroy patriotic Americans who fight Communism.

Hermit of The Sierra Madre

with Den Murray

I found the Hermit clearing the basin of his mountain spring and singing in his eroded baritone: "Charley old boy . . . Oh, Charley old boy . . . You fill me, you thrill me, with vetoes of joy . . ."

"Stop!" I cried. "Those aren't the proper words to that old song."

"So it was you that wrote it," he said. "I knew it wasn't Jack or Mac." I frowned. "It's not patriotic at a time when Charles the Gaul is despoiling the Atlantic Community to be improvising an ode to him. He's a base ingrate!"

"Unquestionably," agreed the Hermit. "Also an excellent school teacher and poker player."

"How so?" I demanded. "Well," said the old man, "he's filling in our Jack on a few basic facts underlying the successful operation of a country that Jack failed to pick up at either Harvard or the London School of Economics."

"Such as?" I queried. "That you've got to be in sound financial condition at home before practicing philanthropy among your neighbors. Frugal Charley lassooed a lucrative market for his surplus-cursed French farmers that he is not about to share with Jack's and Mac's export-needing Americans, Canadians and New Zealanders — unless and until he gets something in exchange which he deems more valuable. The big reason behind Charley's veto is as simple as that."

"You sound like you approve," I charged. "The Hermit said, 'Well, someone had to brush the stars out of Jack's trusting eyes. His current economic Merlin is a re-incarnation of the late 'Spend-Lend-Tax and Elect' Harry Hopkins not inappropriately named 'Heller.' With Prof. de Gaulle correcting Jack's exam papers on foreign policy, and Prof. Heller raising hell with Jack's chances for a passing grade in Home Economics — the lad ought to be well educated for the job he now occupies come '64. And besides, who says le grand Charley owes us anything? Didn't we trick him out of a peek at the Mona Lisa?"

Bonelli Moves

Strong Objection to Give MTA Taxing Powers

Strong opposition to the proposal to give the Metropolitan Transit Authority taxing powers without a vote of the people to finance a rapid transit system was voiced by Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli.

On his motion, the Board of Supervisors passed a motion going on record in opposition to any legislation which would give such taxing authority without a vote of the people and instruct-

'YOUR CITY AND MINE'

"FIRE PREVENTION — EVERYBODY'S JOB"

I wish there was some way to come up with a magic word or idea that would really bring home to you and me the importance of fire prevention. This morning's headline "Mother and Ten Children Die in Fire" should do it, but it won't. The fact that 453 people die in fires in 1961 in California, that hundreds of homes were destroyed and that fires caused losses in the millions of dollars won't do it. But somehow each of us needs to realize that while fire is one of man's great benefactors, at the same time it is one of his greatest dangers.

We are all careless, thoughtless, in a hurry, assume someone else is looking out for the problem; no one is and if you don't do the job and your family loses its home or its life in fire, no one but you is to blame.

If you haven't been instructed by now and quit reading, maybe we can switch to some constructive questions. What should you do to make your home or your business fire safe. Most things are just good common sense. Do you have an adequate fire screen for your fire place? Are you sure the fire is out before going to bed? Is your house adequately wired or do you blow fuses everytime you operate two electric appliances. Is your furnace inspected periodically for collection of dust, etc. which might catch on fire? Do you remove papers and rags so they don't catch fire in a closet or storage area? Is the gasoline or flammable liquid safely stored in your house or garage? Do you close doors between the kitchen and sleeping quarters at night to slow down the spread of fire? Have you inspected the garage for gasoline, oil, papers and rags? What about the kids' play house — are there any matches, candles, papers or doll clothes stored where they will catch fire easily? What about trees near your fireplace chimney? Are they safely trimmed back? Did you inspect the chimney for leaves, etc. before you started your first fire this fall?

How long has it been since you had a home fire drill? Don't forget that fires occur both during the day and at night. Do you phone the fire department first or try to fight the fire and when it gets out of hand, then phone?

Were you away from home when the fire inspector called and you decided to not bother to call him back when you were available? Last year, when your son or daughter brought home the Junior Fire Marshal information, did you inspect the house with them and seriously discuss fire ing the board clerk to advise the Legislature of the board action.

Commenting on the proposed state legislation to empower the MTA Board of Directors with taxing powers so that a maximum of 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation could be raised in Los Angeles to finance the construction of a rapid transit system, Bonelli declared such a move would be a dangerous precedent.

"The Metropolitan Transit Authority was created by the State Legislature," Bonelli remarked, "and although it was given substantial rights and authority such as that which provides for the sale of revenue bonds, the MTA was not given the right of taxation and has been rightfully prohibited from doing so, as it is supposedly a self-supporting, non-taxing authority."

"Any change in MTA structure via state enabling legislation permitting the MTA to levy up to a 15-cent tax on each $100 of assessed valuation, applicable only to taxpayers of Los Angeles County, should be vigorously opposed by the public, and this opposition should be made known to our state assemblymen in Sacramento."

"The subsidizing of MTA should not be forced upon the overburdened taxpayers of this county by an enabling act of the State Legislature. Only as a result of a countywide vote of the people should any determination be made that would result in the MTA becoming another taxing agency, which, in itself, is a dangerous precedent to be given an appointive board such as MTA."

Bonelli recalled that he served in the State Assembly at the time that the bill was passed creating the MTA. "It would never have gotten out of the Legislature if it had been apparent then that such broad powers would be proposed," asserted Bonelli.

"The people of this county must retain the mandate," he added. "It would be a serious fault on our part—on the part of county government or state government—to do anything else but allow the people of this county to retain this mandate."

FLOURNOY REPORT

by Assemblyman
Houston I. Flournoy
49TH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT

Should local candidates for county supervisor and city council conduct their campaigns and appear on the ballot identified as Republicans or Democrats?

This is the question we will soon be called upon to answer here at the State Capital. As you know, California traditionally has adhered to a non-partisan concept of local government, based on the general assumption that "There isn't a Republican or a Democrat way to pave a street." Local issues have been handled in an atmosphere free of state and national party politics. Now, for the second successive general session of the Legislature, proposals that would revolutionize the election system are being seriously urged. On what grounds?

Proponents of the changes urge:

1. Voters don't know the party leanings of candidates unless they are noted on the ballot.
2. Party identification is the simplest means of indicating a candidate's philosophy.
3. This indication of philosophy is relevant, if not crucial, for selection of local officials and the determination of local policies.

Two years ago, when these same arguments and proposals were put forth, an instant and violent reaction came from local government officials, newspapers and citizens throughout the state. They contended that non-partisan local government in California has been remarkably scandal-free and efficient; that a candidate's statements should not be blurred by the state and national policies of his party, nor a public administrator's actions dictated by party considerations.

In my view, these arguments for non-partisan elections were sound then and they are sound now.

In the first place, it is a very short step from partisan identification on the ballot to full-scale participation of party organizations in selection of candidates to all local offices. This could only lead to party machine politics at the local level, a big-city "spoils" system and the general deterioration of local government service and efficiency. Many years ago, it was precisely this kind of situation which Hiram Johnson and the Progressives fought to overcome in returning California political affairs to the people. Unfortunately, already much of that legislation has gone down the drain. In the last few years, we have seen cross-filing abolished, along with a flood of minor changes in the election code which has served to tighten the power and authority of party bosses.

In my opinion, it is inevitable that if this trend continues and party-labels come into use at the local level, public officials, shorn of their independence of thought, will no longer be judged on their service to the people, but on their service to party. I cannot conceive of any, save the power-hungry few, wanting this to happen.

I've been just sitting here waiting for the mail man all day long to see if he'd have a valentine for me. I don't know what it is about some people — me in particular. All of my life I have felt like lavender and old lace valentine inside. I'm so drippy with sentiment and corn that it fairly makes me burst. I sob at the slightest provocation at a sentimental movie or TV show. Matter of fact, I'm bad about being sentimental that my children won't even sit with me if there is even the slightest chance that there might be a tear jerker in the wood shed.

Well, anyway, I repeat, I've felt like the type that would be bound to get valentines with lots of goop and sentiment. But somehow I always end up with the comic variety. Maybe this will be my year!

I have been wondering who built that attractive house up at the end of Sierra Madre Villa, 1871, to be exact. The house is owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Reese Brown, II, and occupied by them with their three children, J. Reese III, aged 10, Mary Angelyn, 3½ years, and one year old baby Robert.

It is a perfectly lovely place designed by Frank Nick, a very talented Altadena architect. He is further advising them as to the furnishing and landscaping so that they will have a completely coordinated home-site when it is entirely executed.

Mr. Brown is an electronics engineer with the Electro Data Division of Burroughs. He has quite a fascinating hobby, and one that will fit into his future landscaping plans. He's a member of the Cactus and Succulent Society of Los Angeles, and does quite a lot of propagating of new plants, and trading specimen plants with the other members of the society. I think the neighborhood can look forward to a very interesting garden in the near future.

Mrs. Brown's hobby is painting, both with oils and water colors. However, she has found little opportunity to promote this hobby with her time so well occupied at the moment with her two little ones.

The Bob Newhart Show with Peter Nero, sponsored by the Huntington Memorial Clinic Auxiliary, brought out the people in droves to pack the Pasadena Civic Auditorium last Monday evening. There were several post and pre-parties on the hill.

One was given by Dr. and Mrs. Howard Owen on Villa Mesa. They invited their group back to their home for coffee and pie. In their party were Dr. and Mrs. Ross Lambert, Dr. and Mrs. Dale Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Julien, Dr. and Mrs. John Nelson, Dr. and Mrs. James Fox, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Johnston, Dr. and Mrs. Archie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Haugh, Dr. and Mrs. Daron Hovsepian, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Goepfinger, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mangano, Mr. and Mrs. George Wenger, Mr. and Mrs. James Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Don Still, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morgridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berg, Mr. and Mrs. John Mobus, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Pederson, Dr. and Mrs. Orville Mestad, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wallace, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Christanson of Sierra Madre Villa invited their party back to the house for cocktails and a late buffet after the show. In their group were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Knickrehm, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fahey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Galpin, Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Strangman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardison, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clement and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henay, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Slavin, Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William Baugh, Miss Edie Peter, Professor Jack Milner, Mr. and Mrs. William Thorne, Dr. and Mrs. William Rutledge, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Cotino, and Mrs. Frances Walls.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes of Old House Road entertained at a pre-snow smorgasbord buffet. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Danz, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Axelson, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Paschall Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David E. Hoyt and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Anderson.

Tax Facts Concerning Los Angeles County As Expressed by Dr. Felix J. Weil Series

Abolish Tax on Household Furnishings?

Part II
I am not at all sure the legislature will favor abolishing the property tax on householder's furnishings.

But even if it does, any amendment it would pass would not take effect before the 1964 taxation period at the earliest.
How, then, can householder's furnishings be assessed without the temporary deputy assessors in '63 (and later years if the legislature turns down Watson's proposal)?

Heretofore, if the canvassers could not enter a house — as happened in some 70 per cent of the cases — they left dangling from the door knob a request to mail in a property declaration.

If the taxpayers ignored it, his furniture was often routinely assessed at a percentage of the building's assessed valuation (that is, excluding land value).

Watson will now use several percentages geared to the value of the dwelling and applied by the computer. Several, because the more valuable a home, the more the value of its furnishings rises, but not in simple arithmetic proportions.

The graduated scale he will use is 4 per cent on improvements (land values don't count) assessed at $2499 or less; 4.5 per cent on assessments of up to and including $2,749; 5 per cent up to $3,249; 5.5 per cent up to $3,999; 6 per cent up to $4,999; 6.5 per cent up to $4,999; 7 per cent up to $5,999; 7.5 per cent up to $6,999; 8 per cent up to $7,999; 8.5 per cent up to $9,999; 9 per cent up to $11,999; 10 per cent up to $14,999. On higher assessed values on-the-spot checks by trained appraisers are scheduled.

For example, the assessed valuation of a home of $15,500 market value should be — using the ratio of 25 per cent Watson announced the land of say, $1,000 assessed valuation, the dwelling alone would be valued at $2,875. The furniture will then be assessed at 5 per cent of $2,875 — namely $143.75 — rounded off to $144. After deducting the $100 exemption every householder is entitled to, there remains a net assessed value of $44.

This would mean no tax, as Watson announced that on net values below $50 it would cost more to process the item than it would yield.

Watson is giving the principle of the percentage formulas wide publicity.

If a taxpayer then thinks his furnishings worth less than the announced percentage of the assessed building value he may request a spot check.

Watson will not be the first to apply these percentage formulas. Such formulas have been in use for quite some time in other localities (for instance, San Diego, Orange, and San Bernardino counties) and are based on thorough statistical studies.

It has been countered that the formula would enable owners of valuable antiques or paintings to escape taxation.

But, (1) old masters and valuable antiques are not part of the term "householder's furnishings," and (2) canvassers could not distinguish anyway between a genuine master and a reproduction, or a real antique and a copy.

Under the old system valuable antiques and old masters had as much chance to escape taxation as under the new. If the Assessor knows about them, they will now, as before, be assessed by experts in on-the-spot checks.

In any event, random checks would be needed on property assessed under the formula to see if the percentage is fair, needs adjustment, and how far taxable personal property remains undeclared and untaxed, and thus is subject to penalty.

There remains the case of tenant-owned furniture (for which the real estate is not liable). Here, too, a formula geared to the rent could be worked out, in my opinion.

With the landlord made to report his tenants' names and rent, this personal property could be treated like other personal property. Spot checks could also be made and penalties applied.
